

MAYOR BOXTON TELLS HOW HE WAS BRIBED!

Sensational Story Of a Meeting With Rudolph Spreckels, Burns and Langdon

By ASSOCIATED PRESS.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—The cross-examination of Acting Mayor Boxton was resumed at the continuation of the Glass trial this morning, after a calling of the list of the people's witnesses, including all of the eighteen Supervisors accused of bribe-taking except Duffey, which revealed that eighteen of them were absent. Delmas stated that it would take him at least an hour to finish with Boxton. It was arranged that President Henry T. Scott of the Pacific States Telephone Company would follow Boxton on the stand and that Director Frank G. Drum would follow him.

"Dr. Boxton," asked Delmas, "since you left the stand yesterday afternoon have you had any conversation regarding your testimony by any one connected with the prosecution?"

"Yes," replied the Mayor. "After adjournment yesterday I was requested to call at Mr. Heney's office at 9:30 o'clock this morning. I did so, and the testimony given by me yesterday was the subject of our conversation. I do not remember that anything was said about what I would testify to today."

"Have you had any other such talk?" asked Delmas.

Talked With Heney

In reply, Boxton told of two other occasions when he had been summoned to Heney's office by "Mr. Burns," meaning Heney's famous partner in the bribery-graft investigation.

"What are the initials of this Mr. Burns?" asked Delmas, innocently.

"I do not know," was the answer.

Heney, smiling broadly, supplied them sotto voice.

"Is he a detective?" persisted Delmas.

Again Boxton said he did not know. He had spent two hours talking over graft matters with Burns in Heney's office last Wednesday. Then Delmas opened up the story of the trapping of Boxton that led to all of the hundred-odd indictments that have been returned by the Oliver Grand Jury, by asking the seemingly casual question:

First Met Heney

"When did you first meet Heney?"

"At the home of G. A. Roy, at Laguna and Bush streets," replied Boxton.

"Tell us all about that," suggested Delmas.

"Roy conducts a restaurant in Van Ness avenue. One afternoon I got home about 3:30 o'clock. Five minutes later the telephone rang. I was alone in the house. I answered it."

"One moment," interposed Delmas. "When you saw Mr. Roy at his home, did you see him alone, or was there company there?"

Meets the Prosecutors

"There was company," replied Boxton, with an uncertain smile.

"Mr. Spreckels, Mr. Burns and Mr. Langdon were there, and there were about a dozen others stationed outside of the different doors in the house. As I was saying, the telephone rang and I answered it. Mr. Roy said he would like to see me that afternoon on something very important. He asked if I could call on him at his house. I replied that I would rather have him call on me. He said that he had just had an operation performed and couldn't very well go out. I said very well, that I would call on him that evening. He said the matter was very important and couldn't I come out right away. I agreed. I went. Roy met me at his door and invited me in.

Got Evidence on You

"I saw him alone in the parlor. We were there together about five minutes. He had the door closed. He said to me: 'Well, it's all off.' 'What do you mean?' I asked. He said: 'THEY HAVE THE EVIDENCE ON YOU. YOU HAVE BEEN THROWN

Character study of Attorney Delmas, who represents Louis Glass, made while he was cross-questioning Mayor Boxton on the witness stand today.

DOWN BY POHEIM AND MAESTRETTI OF THE POLICE COMMISSION.' I told him I didn't understand what he meant. He said: 'They have found out through Poheim, Maestretti and the others that money was paid to you.' I said: 'I have never had any dealings with you.' 'No,' he answered, 'BUT THEY HAVE GOT THE EVIDENCE ON YOU, AND THEY ARE HERE NOW.' 'Do you mean that they are here in this house now?' I asked. 'Yes,' he said, 'Burns and Spreckels and Langdon and the others are here.' 'All right,' I said, 'tell them to come in here if they want to see me.' Then he threw the door open and they came in.

"Burns said they had evidence that I had received $500 from Roy and that conversation had been taken down, and that they had all facts as to that transaction. They also had numbers of bills paid. Burns said this money had been paid to kill the bill prohibiting children from visiting skating rinks."

Directly Accused by Burns

"Did Burns state that Roy had paid you, a Supervisor, a bribe of $500 to prevent the passage of this bill?"

"Yes, sir."

"Tell all that took place then."

"I remained there until 12 at night. During that time each one advised me to give certain information that they wanted."

"Did you remain voluntarily?"

"No, sir."

"You remained under compulsion?"

"I started to go several times, but couldn't go. At midnight I was sent home in an automobile with several men."

"Were you watched when you went home?"

"One of the men remained on the sidewalk. I was watched for a week."

Worse Than a Prisoner

"During that week were you a prisoner?"

"Worse," was the answer.

"During this week did you talk with the prosecution?"

"Yes; I met them all at Mr. Radtke's house twice, at his request."

"Where did your first talk with Roy take place?"

"At the cafe in Van Ness avenue."

"Was any one else present?"

"No one."

Changes in Office of Attorney-General

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—U. S. Webb, Attorney-General of California, stated today that he had decided to promote his first deputy, E. B. Bower, to the position of Assistant Attorney-General, made vacant by the recent resignation of George A. Sturtevant, who retired to accept an appointment as judge of the Superior Court of San Francisco to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge J. A. Hoerner. The Attorney-General has chosen a successor to Mr. Bower as first deputy, but is not yet prepared to make his name public, and until this is done, the appointment of Mr. Bower will not be formally announced.

Is Killed by Car Dodging a Bus

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—Arthur Williams, a commercial traveler, was knocked down this morning at 11:30 at the corner of Seventh and Market streets, opposite the Market-street Savings Bank, and killed. He tried to dodge a car and was knocked down by a bus.

He received a fractured skull. In his pockets were found identity that he came from Sacramento, representing a commercial house there, Weinstein, Lubin & Co. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital and then to the morgue.

Bowies Freed From

Authorities Watching Immigration of Japs

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—The Southern Pacific and Santa Fe railroads have been asked by Secretary of Commerce and Labor Straus to furnish him with data as to the number of Japanese they have carried during the past eighteen months from points in Texas, New Mexico and Arizona near the Mexican border. For many months the bureau of immigration has had inspectors watching the trend of Japanese immigration.

Striker Who Deserts Union Is Assaulted

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—Frank Anderson, a union car man who came back to work, was assaulted this morning at the corner of Fifteenth and Valencia streets by union men. He was badly beaten up and several arrests were made. Anderson was taken to the Receiving Hospital. After his wounds were dressed he was discharged.

Soldiers Fight Duel Lasting 32 Minutes

LEGHORN, July 12.—Lieutenant Varra of the Tenth Regiment of Infantry was seriously wounded in a duel yesterday with Lieutenant Notard of the same regiment. The men fought for 32 minutes, during which time there were 18 assaults.

ROOSEVELT AND OFFICIALS OF JAPAN IN MEETING

Situation Is Now Being Discussed in Friendly
Spirit at Luncheon.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, July 12.—A peace conference of hardly less importance to the United States and Japan than that now in session at The Hague was expected to be held at Oyster Bay today when Admiral Yamamoto of Japan and Viscount Aoki, the Japanese Ambassador, arrive there for an official visit of respect to the President. The two distinguished Japanese left their hotels before 11 o'clock to take a train for Oyster Bay, meeting at the Long Island ferry for the journey to the President's home.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 12.—The highest official courtesy that could be extended Admiral Baron Yamamoto during his visit to the United States took place today when the President entertained the Japanese admiral as his guest of honor at luncheon at 1 o'clock at Sagamore Hill.

Viscount Aoki, the Japanese ambassador and personal representative of the emperor, shared in the cordiality extended to the Japanese nation, as did Captain Moto Kondo, inspector of naval construction of the Japanese navy, and a member of Admiral Yamamoto's suite.

As guests, the President and Mrs. Roosevelt in the entertaining of the distinguished visitors were Assistant Secretary of State Bacon, Representative Herbert Parsons of New York and Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Morgan, also of New York.

The guests arrived at Oyster Bay shortly after noon and were conveyed at once to the Sagamore Hill home in the Roosevelt automobile.

Teamsters' Union Will Not Go Out on Strike

At the meeting of the Material Teamsters' Union of Oakland, held last night, it was decided not to strike at the present time. This decision was reached after much discussion, and after it was pretty well determined that they could not hope to count on the aid they expected from the higher officials. As a matter of fact, if the Lumber Dealers' association finally decide to cut the salaries of their employees fifty cents a day, which action is now being considered, instead of the raise of fifty cents a day desired by the teamsters, they will find that their salaries have been reduced that much.

Death Causes Delay in Ex-Mayor's Case

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—The hearing of the alternative writ of mandamus granted Eugene E. Schmitz by the Appellate Court has been postponed until tomorrow. This was done on account of the death of Judge Hall's mother.

Tomorrow the Appellate Court will determine the question of whether Judge Dunne will be compelled to settle immediately the bill of exceptions filed by Schmitz' attorneys.

Leach Appointed Director of Mint

OYSTER BAY, July 12.—President Roosevelt has appointed Frank A. Leach of Oakland, Cal., Director of the Mint, to succeed George E. Roberts, who resigned to accept the presidency of the Commercial National Bank of Chicago, made vacant by the death of James H. Eckles. Leach is at present superintendent of the San Francisco Mint. He will assume his present duties at Washington late in the present month.

BOXTON TELLS HOW HE WAS CHOSEN MAYOR

Told That He Is to Serve Till an "Honest Man" Is Selected

Burns signed it.
"Who were present?"
"Spreckels, Langdon, Heney, Burns, Radtke and Owens."
"Were the terms discussed or were they agreed on before?"
"Agreed on before. Mr. Owens was my attorney and represented me. Langdon and Heney made the proposition to Owens and myself before the agreement was made."

Spreckels Has the Papers

"Who has the agreement?"
"Rudolph Spreckels."
"I would like to have this agreement produced now," said Delmas.

"Mr. Spreckels is not here, but he will produce it. We will not wait," said Judge Lawlor.

Delmas produced a newspaper copy of the agreement, but Heney said it was entirely inaccurate, and Delmas went on with his questions.

"Why did you leave this agreement with Spreckels?"
"My attorney, Mr. Owens, said it was satisfactory."
"Did you sign this agreement?"
"I don't think so."
"Did you put any mark on it, so it could be identified?"
"No."

Heney then examined the newspaper clipping and said it contained the gist of the agreement. Delmas then read the agreement promising Boxton immunity if he told the truth about bribery transactions.

Judge Lawlor, espying former Justice A. J. Rhodes, of Santa Clara, in the audience, invited him to a seat on the bench.

Boxton Seems Indifferent

The attitude of Mayor Boxton while confessing the trapping of himself by the prosecution was one of seeming indifference. He smiled often, and appeared to be unembarrassed by his position.

Delmas introduced in evidence and read to the jury, after identification by Boxton, the affidavit made by District Attorney Langdon in support of the injunction obtained by him to restrain Abraham Ruef from taking possession of the District Attorney's office after Langdon had been illegally "removed" by Schmitz after the latter's return from Europe last fall.

Delmas read also the sworn reply of Supervisor Boxton to the injunction proceedings.

Not His Fault He's Mayor

Delmas drew from Boxton briefly the facts of his election a few days ago to the mayoralty.

"It was through no fault of mine," said Boxton.
"Order! Stop laughing in the courtroom!" commanded the bailiffs.

"That office was thrust upon you, doctor?" queried Delmas.
"I do not know that it was thrust upon me, but I certainly didn't want the office. Somebody had to take it."

"And your election was the work of this very prosecution?"
"Unquestionably."

"I object to that," said Heney, with much emphasis. "That is a conclusion of the witness. I know that I, personally, had nothing to do with it, and I do not propose to have the responsibility shouldered upon me."

How He Was Chosen Mayor

Judge Lawlor ruled that Mayor Boxton might explain the facts of his election. Responding, he said that last Monday afternoon he was called into a committee room of the Supervisorial Board, where Acting Mayor Gallagher and District Attorney Langdon were awaiting.

"Mr. Gallagher said to me it was necessary to select immediately a Mayor from among the members of the Board of Supervisors, and he asked me if I would accept the honor. This was the first I knew of it. I agreed, and a few minutes later at a meeting of the board I was elected. Mr. Gallagher's resignation being previously submitted and accepted. Then Mr. Langdon took me to the auditor's office, where he (Langdon) took a $25,000 Mayor's bond from his pocket and the auditor approved it. Then Mr. Langdon and I and a newspaper man had lunch together—a very humble lunch—and afterward the District Attorney took me to the County Clerk and I was sworn in. Then I came here, where I was to be a witness against Mr. Glass on the bribery charge."

Mayor Boxton told how, a day or two later, he and Langdon repaired to the offices at Post and Franklin streets occupied by Mayor Schmitz until his conviction of extortion and carted off some of the Mayor's furniture and the Mayor's gilded post sign to new quarters selected by Langdon in the City Hall.

To Select "Honest Man"

"Mr. Langdon told me after my election," said Boxton, "that a committee of thirty would meet and probably select an honest man for Mayor. I agreed to resign as soon as such a man should be elected."

Reverting to the trapping incident at Roy's home, Mayor Boxton said that at the time Detective Burns stated to him in the presence of the others that he and Heney and Langdon and Spreckels had all the proof and could convict him of the crime of taking $500 from Roy, but that if he would turn State's evidence and aid the prosecution in every way he could, they would give him immunity from punishment; that he consented and this arrangement stood.

Adjournment was taken until 2 o'clock.

Complaint in Evidence

At the afternoon session, Delmas offered in evidence and read to the jury the complaint of District Attorney Langdon against the Board of Supervisors relative to the attempt last year to remove him from office.

purpose of the defense ought not to be asserted until the arguments are reached."

Banker King a Witness

Mayor Boxton was temporarily excused to allow the examination of President Homer S. King, of the Bank of California, who wanted to get away on account of the illness of his daughter.

Mr. King was a director of the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph Company during 1905 and 1906. His testimony went to show that after the death of John I. Sabin the active presidency and general management of the telephone corporation was vested in Louis Glass.

The object of this showing was to lay the foundation for the claim to the jury that, as acting president and general manager, Mr. Glass must have been aware of and given his consent to the bribing of the Supervisors to keep the Home Telephone Company out of San Francisco.

Witness Knows Halsey

Heney asked King if he knew Theodore V. Halsey.

"Yes," said the banker.

Heney had Halsey stand up in his pew, and King identified him.

"Who, if anybody, had authority to spend the company's money without first having the approval of the executive committee of the board of directors of the Pacific company?" asked Heney.

Delmas objected, holding that such authority could have been delegated only by resolution of the board of directors, "and the by-laws and minutes of that body would be the best evidence."

Heney changed his question so as to inquire whether such authority "was exercised" by any official of the company in 1905.

"I do not know" was the answer.

"I do not know of any such expenditures having been made. The officers of the company necessarily expend a great deal of money, and I am not prepared to state that all such expenditures were audited by the directors."

Boxton Resumes Stand

Mayor Boxton resumed the stand.

The $25,000 mayoralty bond referred to at the morning session was introduced by Delmas and referred to the jury.

Boxton declared the signature "Charles Boxton" on the bond was not written by himself, nor did he know by whom it was written. He had not made application for the bond, nor did he know by whom it was written. He had not made application for the bond, nor did he know who applied for it, nor had he paid, nor did he expect to pay the fee for it.

"Perhaps you, sir, know who wrote this alleged signature, 'Dr. Boxton,'" said Delmas, offering the bond to Heney.

"Don't know; can't prove it by me," answered the assistant District Attorney, thrusting his hands deeper into his pockets and leaning back in his chair.

Heney Grows Facetious

Delmas turned to Boxton. "Do you know whether it is in Mr. Langdon's handwriting?" he asked.

The Mayor said he did not.

"Here comes Langdon himself," observed Heney to Delmas.

"You might put him under oath and ask him."

"I would not accept his statement, or yours, for that, either under oath or not under oath," Delmas replied.

Heney, flushing and smiling grimly, suggested facetiously another way of getting at it. Delmas replied:

"You may save yourself, sir, the trouble of outlining for me a course of appropriate action. That is a charity you would better begin at home."

JAPAN'S OUR FRIEND, SAYS ROOSEVELT OFFICIALLY

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 12.—An official statement announcing "the thoroughly good understanding and fundamental friendliness" between the United States and Japan was issued by President Roosevelt today through Secretary Loeb after the departure of Admiral Yamamoto and Ambassador

Aoki from Sagamore Hill. The statement follows:
"The President had a long interview with Admiral Baron Yamamoto and it was most satisfactory in every way. It simply confirms all that has already been made clear by Ambassador Aoki—the thoroughly good understanding between the two governments and the fundamental friendliness between the two nations."

OPENLY ATTACKS FRENCH GOVERNMENT AND BOMPARD

ST. PETERSBURG, July 12.—An open attack upon the French government and Ambassador Bompard appeared today in the Novoye Vremya, which a week ago began reviewing and tentatively condemning the Franco-Russian alliance. It is supposed that the paper in this instance is serving as the mouthpiece of the powerful court party which is working in favor of closer relations with Germany. The editorial is couched in in-temperate and offensive language and seriously compromises the position of M. Bompard at St. Petersburg. It says:

"Failure of Foreign Minister Izvolsky to bring about re-establishment of Russian prestige."

BEST CHOICE OF NEW MAYOR

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—No further move toward the selection of a Mayor will be made by District Attorney Langdon, Rudolph Spreckels and the other leaders in the graft prosecution until tomorrow, the day set by the District Attorney for the calling together of the proposed convention for the selection of a permanent Mayor. Until then, therefore, Mayor Charles Boxton will continue to exercise his temporary authority.

TELEGRAPHERS TO MEET SOON

Opportunity Is Given Business Men and Companies to Hear Strikers.

A mass meeting of the telegraphers will be held Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at New Pythian Castle, Twelfth and Alice streets, Friendship Hall. The purpose of this meeting is to welcome Dr. Neill, Commissioner of Labor, and the members of the general executive board of the Telegraphers' Union, and also to give the business men of San Francisco and Oakland an opportunity to hear and meet the striking telegraphers personally. The business men and officials of both telegraph companies are invited to be present and participate in the discussion.

Among those who will address the meeting are President Small of the telegraphers' union; P. H. Morrissey, president of the Trainmen's Union; Judge W. W. Allen, member of the general executive board of the telegraphers' organization; members of the San Francisco organization, and others.

TO MEET COMMISSIONERS.
President Small left this morning to meet Commissioner Neill and the executive officers of the union up the road. The train on which they are traveling was reported to be four hours late this morning, therefore they will not arrive until late this evening.

President Small received a telegram from General Secretary Russell this morning stating that the Chicago union will await further advice before taking any action. The telegram added, "The whole country is behind you."

TEACHERS END CONVENTION

President Wheeler and Dr. John Adams Address National Association.

LOS ANGELES, July 12.—The closing session of the National Educational Association convened in Temple Auditorium this afternoon. Following the rendition of several musical numbers, Professor John Adams of University College, London, England, addressed the convention upon "A Significant Lack of Educational Terminology." Following this Benjamin D. Wheeler, president of the University of California, Berkeley, Cal., spoke upon the subject of "Call Nothing Common." His address was received with expressions of approval by the large audience that filled the auditorium.

The committee on resolutions, Charles Van Dusen of Chicago, presented its report. The departments of manual training, school of administration, and library held their final sessions this morning. The sessions have also been completed their programs and taken final adjournment.

BODY DIVIDED.
If this resolution is adopted the association will be committed apparently on both sides of the question. It is contended that the general session today, being an open meeting, attended by associate and honorary members, as well as the general public, has no right to commit the association officially to this or any other reform, much less to instruct its officers in the conduct of their offices. Only a meeting of active members alone has the right to do that, it is claimed.

For fear, however, of causing serious dissension in the closing session, it was argued that no effort should be made to amend the committee's report, leaving with Secretary Shepherd of the association, the option of following or disregarding the mandate of the convention as he saw fit.

The educators will remain in Southern California about ten days longer to enjoy the elaborate program of entertainment provided by the local committee. All places of interest in this section, including Mount Lowe, Catalina Island and all beaches and other resorts, will be visited. Excursions to surrounding towns are planned. A large number of those in attendance will, however, depart within a few days. A majority of them have planned return trips home by way of San Francisco and other northern cities.

IS IDENTIFIED BY HIS VICTIM

LIVERMORE, July 12.—Fred Miles, the former vineyard laborer who is accused of criminally assaulting Mrs. E. E. Willy, wife of the Olivine vineyard foreman, on June 26th, was held for trial before the Superior Court by Justice of the Peace W. W. Wright today after an exhaustive preliminary examination. Bail was fixed at $10,000 in default of which Miles was sent back to the county jail.

During the examination of Miles today Mrs. Willy, his victim, was brought into court. When she faced the accused man, she almost fainted, being very weak from her terrible experiences at his hands. However, she pointed her finger at Miles and exclaimed: "That is the man who assaulted me!"

It had been denied by Miles that he was in Livermore on the day of the assault on Mrs. Willy, but when she today identified him in court as her assailant the witness caved down. Had the accused not been strongly guarded during the court examination the husband of Mrs. Willy would have wreaked his vengeance on Miles.

SAYS COMPANION CUT HIM WITH BOTTLE
Manuel Soares swore to a complaint in Judge Geary's court this morning against William Peary, who is charged with striking Soares on the arm and inflicting several cuts on the arms and hand with a soda water bottle. Both the men are employed as laborers at the Ransome quarry at Leona Heights. Peary will be arrested today.

THE TIME, THE PLACE, THE PIANO

All Are Now Combined at the Stores of Eilers Music Company

SCORES OF SPLENDID PIANO VALUES AT BIG PIANO STORES

The Time, NOW—The Place, EILERS MUSIC CO., Oakland Store, 1075-1077 Clay Street; Berkeley Store, Corner Shattuck Avenue and Bancroft Way—The Piano, Your Choice of Forty Worthy American Makes.

Oakland and Berkeley people know an opportunity when it comes. This was clearly shown yesterday at the store of Eilers Music Company, where the big stock reducing sale is now in progress. No one who visits these stores can have the smallest doubt but that pianos can now be purchased at more reasonable prices than ever in the history of Oakland and Berkeley. It is an opportunity that is being eagerly grasped by the shrewdest business men and by the most careful buyers.

FAMOUS MAKES

Nothing better illustrates the importance of this significant sale than the high standard of the pianos now offered; the time-honored Hazelton, always found in the most aristocratic homes in New York; the Decker & Sons, a favorite for over fifty years; the famous Kimball, used in every land in the world; the exquisite toned Hobart M. Cable, which we sell at $100 less than the former agents charged for it last year; the genuine Schuman, on whose reputation other dealers try to trade by using the name of "Schuman & Sons;" the Crown, the Story & Clark, together with the peer of all Piano players—the Autopiano—and many others. All these afford an opportunity for choice better than all other Oakland or San Francisco stores combined.

THESE PRICES MUST SELL

No one knows better than we do that at this time of the year when great numbers of people are out of the city and when times are dull, it must be an unusual opportunity that will make people invest in pianos. We know that in order to accomplish this very exceptional prices and terms must be made—and we have made them.

Think of what this opportunity affords to the piano purchaser. Regular $500 and $550 pianos at $318, $357 and $365.
Beautiful $450 styles that can be bought at $265, $277 and $292.
Regular $350 and $400 styles can now be purchased at $218, $232 and $255. A piano that another dealer boasts of at $350. Take it in this sale at $185. It is an opportunity that comes only in unusual times. Brand new pianos of good tone, and dependable, at $118 and $150.

HOW TO BUY A PIANO

A piano is not purchased for a day or for a year but for a generation. The person buying it should use the best possible judgment.

Go to every store in Oakland or San Francisco, look at the pianos offered, the tone quality, the finish, the workmanship, the number of the instrument. Then come to one of our stores and the object lesson will be complete. Nothing so well illustrates the wonderful purchasing and distributing power of our large chain of Pacific Coast stores as our recognized ability to furnish high-grade pianos at a cost below that of any other dealer.

A REAL GUARANTEE

Don't be deceived in a guarantee that permits you to exchange your piano for another. A real guarantee provides for the return of your money if not satisfactory. This is the guarantee that goes with all our new pianos and is the assurance that you will be thoroughly satisfied.

The Apotheosis of Boondling.

Neither the building trades nor the commercial bodies of San Francisco are disposed to endorse the dog-whip political deal between the graft prosecution and a band of confessed criminals by which Charles Boxton was elevated to the mayoralty. The Building Trades Council refuses flatly to have anything to do with it, and the Merchants' Exchange suggests that the proposed convention be allowed to name the Supervisors as well as the Mayor. The Merchants' Association and the Board of Trade have as yet made no response to the invitation to participate in the scheme to whitewash the election of Boxton. The Real Estate Board alone has endorsed the proposition and selected delegates to the convention Messrs. Langdon, Heney, Spreckels and Burns have called.

No wonder there is a general balk at the program. The public is heartily in sympathy with the prosecution of the grafters. Public opinion favors sending bribe-takers and bribe-givers alike to prison, of clearing thieves and boondlers out of public office and filling their places with honest men. But the public views with natural disgust and suspicion the elevation of a self-confessed boondler to the mayoralty. No rational excuse has been offered for it, not even a plausible explanation. Boxton had resigned and become a private person when he was elected Mayor. If it was legal to elect him, it was equally legal to elect some other private person. If the graft prosecution had the power to name a thief for Mayor, it had the power to name an honest man.

Why was a thief preferred?

Was it because he could be controlled and held in office or made to resign as the District Attorney deemed expedient? Apparently Messrs. Langdon and Spreckels were resolved to hold fast to the mayoralty till they saw what the convention they took upon themselves to call would do. In case the convention named a person non grata to Mr. Spreckels and Mr. Langdon, the handy Boxton could hold on to his job. The equally handy Board of Supervisors would of course support him in all he did—that is, all but the two honest men officially associated with the "good dogs."

While Boxton's election was not technically against the law, it violated the spirit of the law and outraged public decency. The law says a person convicted of accepting a bribe shall be disfranchised and disqualified from holding office. Boxton has not been convicted, but he has confessed to the District Attorney, to the Grand Jury, and in open court to being a bribe-taker and an agent of bribe-givers. That he has not been convicted and sent to State's prison is due to the leniency of the District Attorney alone. Mr. Langdon has not only kept Boxton out of the penitentiary, but has made him Mayor of San Francisco. This is what the commercial and labor bodies of the city are requested, or, rather, ordered, to condone and approve.

As long as Schmitz held the office of Mayor, with the power to appoint Boxton's successor in the Board of Supervisors, there was a plausible excuse for keeping Boxton in office and out of jail. But Schmitz had been eliminated from the situation when Boxton was made Mayor at Mr. Langdon's command. Also Boxton had ceased to be a Supervisor, and was about to go on the stand to relate his infamy. There was no obstacle whatever to the election of a reputable citizen of worth and standing in the community to act as Mayor temporarily. It is nonsense to allege that no honest man worthy of trust could be found who would take the office on the understanding that he would resign to make way for a man selected by the civic bodies of the city.

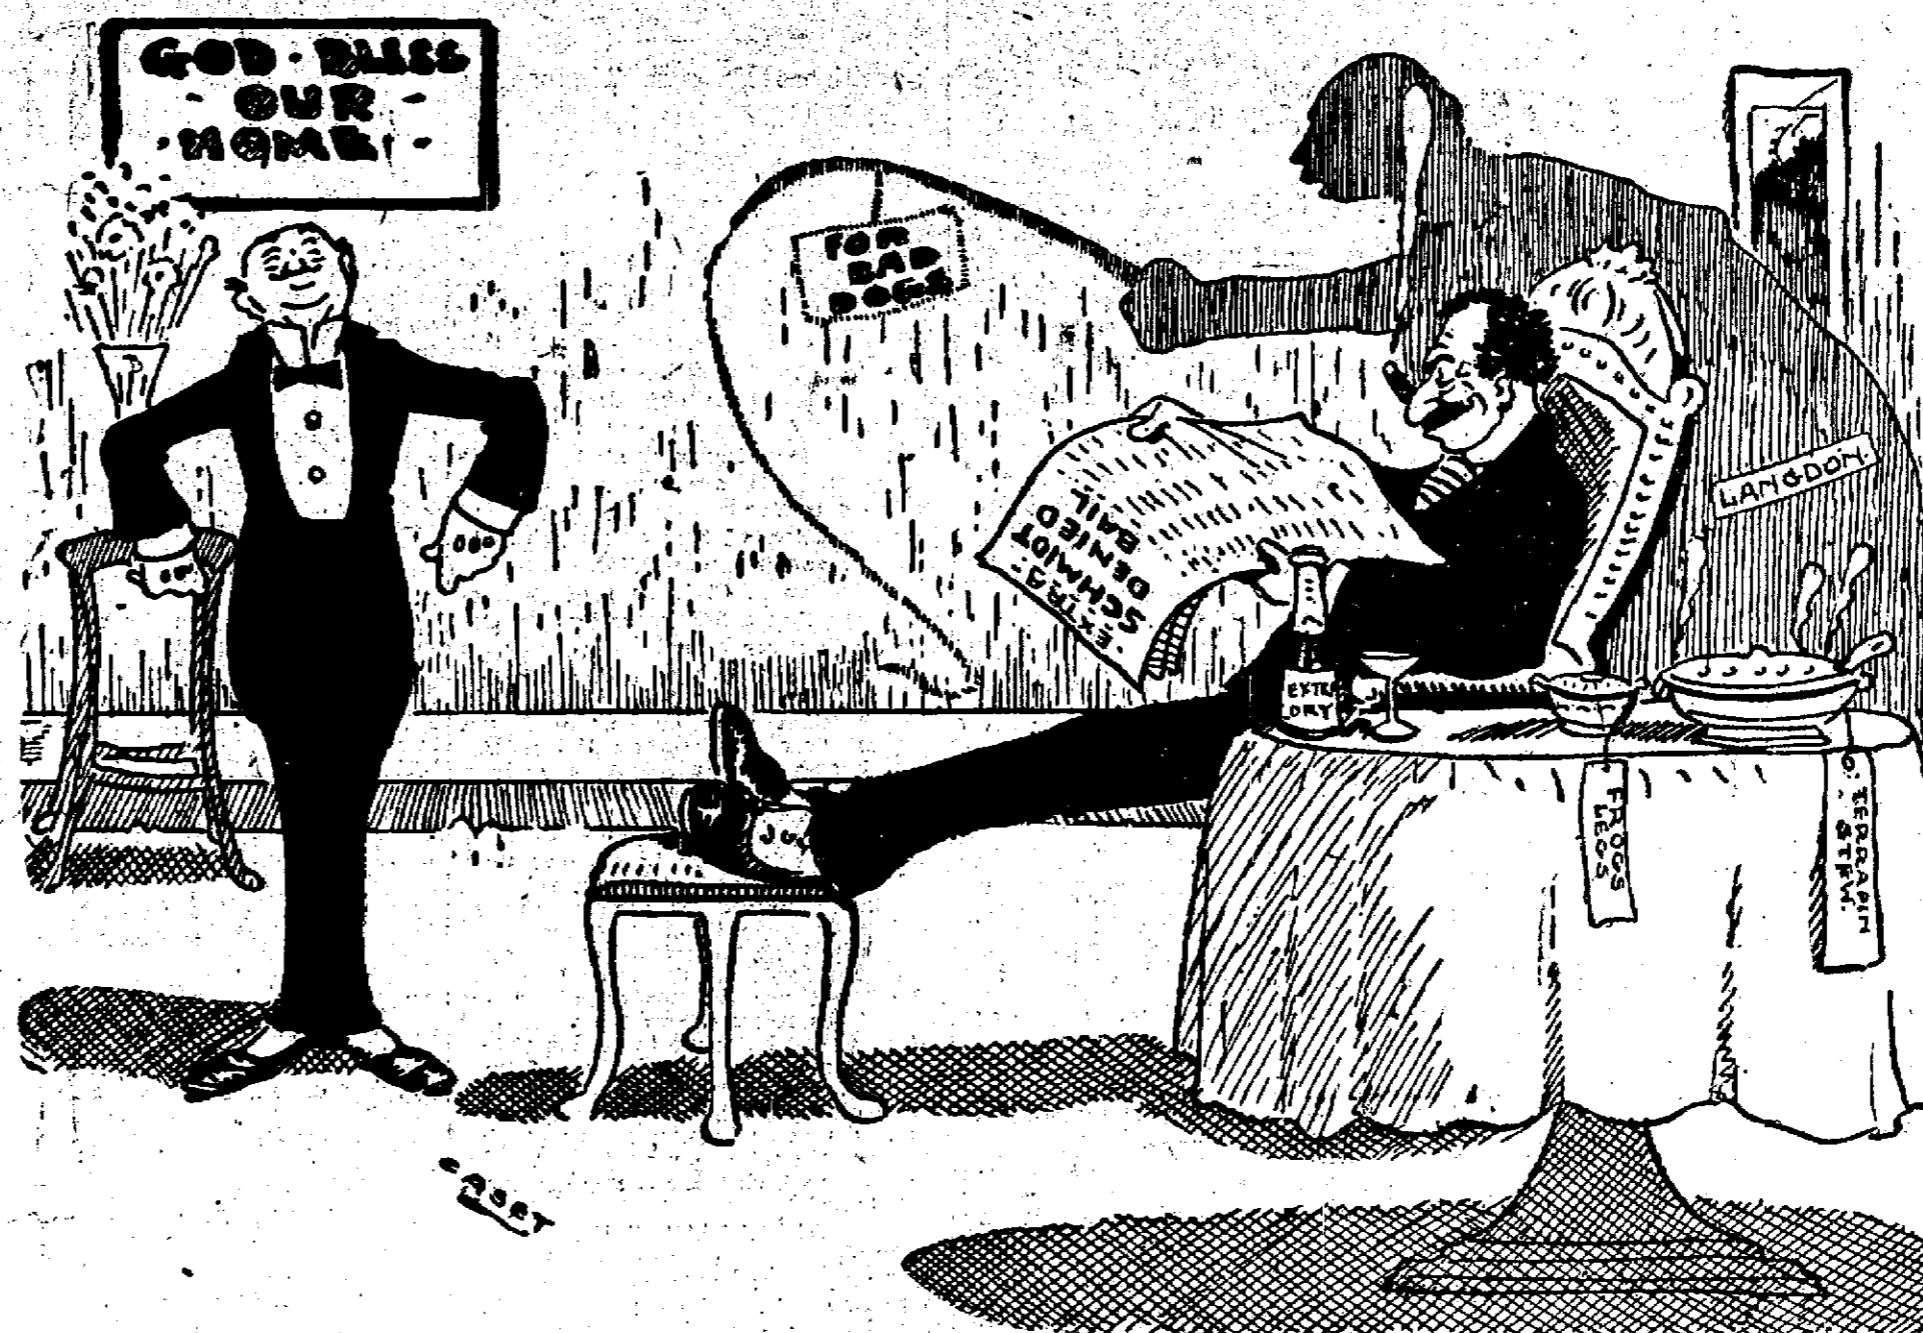

The inference is irresistible that the exigencies of a political scheme which has not yet developed dictated the shameful promotion of Boxton. It is not surprising that the business men and labor leaders of San Francisco are averse to taking any hand in a game that began with compounding felony and has culminated in the election of a notorious boondler to the office of Mayor; more especially as the trump cards are held in the hands of the men who have accepted confessions of boondling as proofs of official integrity. The notion that the people of San Francisco will stand for anything does not appear to be well founded.

What Cities Should Strive to Be.

The real estate men of Sacramento have adopted this motto: "Sacramento, 100,000 population in 1910." It is entirely laudable to strive to increase the population and commerce of a city. But while the spirit of the real estate dealers of the Capitol City is to be commended, there are other things better worth striving for than 100,000 population. A clean, well governed, well ordered city, where virtue, temperance and justice reign, of 50,000 inhabitants is far preferable to 100,000 population living in a dirty, ill-ordered city, badly governed by incompetent or venal politicians—a city in which the standard of morals, citizenship and commercial honor is low and an evil atmosphere surrounds the administration of justice. The more people there are in a well governed, high-class community the better. The fewer people there are in a community dominated by venal politics, commercial immorality and a debauched public opinion the smaller the area of moral contagion. If the Sacramentans will strive to make their city clean, beautiful, moral and governed by enlightened virtue they will make it more truly great than by simply striving to multiply the number of its inhabitants. They will also serve the great cause of human progress with which municipal development is so closely associated. A community of fifty decent persons is better than one of a hundred half-decent persons. It is preferable to a community of fifty decent and fifty indecent people. The motto of Sacramento should be a clean city and a big city, but a clean city anyhow. That should be the motto of every town, but unfortunately it is rather unpopular, if we are to judge by prevailing conditions.

A Japanese government organ expresses a misgiving that the cruise of the American fleet around the Horn is intended to overawe Japan. Apparently a cruise of American ships off American coasts in the Pacific is regarded as in the nature of an affront to the island empire, at least by this particular organ of the Japanese ministry. Why this sensitiveness? An American fleet off the coast of California is no more a threat against Japan than a Japanese fleet in Japanese waters is a threat against the United States. It is five thousand miles from San Francisco to Yokohama, nearly twenty days' sail for fast steaming vessels. There is not the slightest ground for regarding a naval demonstration in American waters at such a great distance from Japan as hostile to the Mikado's realm. It seems, however, that the strength of the fleet ordered out here weighs heavily on the Japanese mind, provokes uneasiness not by its peaceful mission, but by the impressive warning it carries.

ABE RUEF STILL OCCUPIES HIS LUXURIOUS QUARTERS IN SCHMITZ'S FORMER RESIDENCE ON VALLEJO STREET.—DAILY PAPER.

VALET—Will you have the automobile out today for your ride and bath with Mr. Biggy?
[And Ruef still keeps the change.]

Boxton Vindicates His Honor.

The San Francisco Call prints the following interesting interview with District Attorney Langdon's new Mayor:

"I don't deny the big things that I have been accused of, but I do deny that I ever took a bunch of beer checks for a prize-fight permit."

"The foregoing statement was made yesterday by Mayor Boxton, who appeared to be in a jovial mood after he had been on the witness stand in the Glass bribery case."

"They have accused me of all sorts of things," continued Boxton, "from eating the paint off a house up to taking tainted money. Now I'll stand for most anything they say I have done wrongfully, but I am after the fellow that said I took a bunch of beer checks."

"Why, I never had a beer check in my possession in my life, and furthermore, I don't drink beer. I believe it was Mr. Ruef who said that we Supervisors would eat the paint off a house. Now I want to say that I don't care particularly for paint as an article of diet. He is probably the man who said that I sold myself for a bunch of beer checks, and I want to deny the allegation as being not founded on facts."

It is some consolation to the public that "Mayor" Boxton denies the paint and the beer checks. His denial will go far to justify the graft prosecution in making him Mayor. Boxton-neglected to say whether he once took an overcoat as a bribe. However, he cheerfully admits taking all the big things. It is to be noted also that he is holding on to everything he got. But it is a relief to learn that he drew the line at beer checks. A Mayor who would sell himself for beer checks would be rather too cheap for even the strong stomachs of Mr. Langdon and Mr. Spreckels.

An Oregon man ate sixteen plates of ice cream on a wager and immediately went insane. His experience is a proof that even a fool can go insane.

Mr. Heney suggested in court that he could not pull evidence out of "Mayor" Boxton with a corkscrew. Has the dog-whip lost its persuasive power?

Notwithstanding the squelching of Foraker in Ohio, the third-term boom continues to overshadow Secretary Taft's candidacy. It looks as if nearly every State in the Union would send to the Republican National Convention a delegation that will shout for Roosevelt.

If Japan should be foolish enough to go to war with the United States believing, as a Japanese admiral has stated, that American naval officers are incompetent and American sailors unwilling to fight, she will be able to appreciate after the first round the feelings of Big Bill Squires when he woke up from the trance he fell into after his third contact with Tommy Burns' fist.

HIGH RENTS, HARD TIMES

Some Effect of Land Values on Building and Business.

Oakland, July 8, 1907.

Editor TRIBUNE: In your issue of date I find an interesting communication from Frank I. Sears, in which he, very properly in my opinion, blames present conditions on the rise in rents (land values), rather than on labor. As a matter of fact, however, the physical conditions in San Francisco are so abnormal that we have an unusual paradox, viz: high rent and high wages. Every student of economics knows that as rent rises wages fall—as a rule. That is because land is the only source to which labor can apply itself in order to produce wealth. Wealth is the product of labor applied to land. Capital is that part of wealth devoted to the aid of labor in producing more wealth. Capital, being a partner of labor, and those two being the sole producers of wealth, all wealth naturally should belong to capital and labor, in proportion to their service. Just as fish taken from the sea should be divided between the man who owns the boat and the man who works it.

Unfortunately, we have permitted the existence of a parasite on industry, known to law as a landlord. This peculiar being may be insane, drunken, absent, present, or dead. Without contributing a cent of capital or an hour's labor, he may legally take all that labor and capital combined produce, but as that would discourage both entirely he excepts enough to keep both alive and active. When rents rise beyond this point, as they do periodically, we have a universal panic which ends only when land comes down low enough again to encourage capital and labor to once more unite in production.

Manifestly, land and labor being the two primary factors in production, the greater division of the product land gets, the less labor has left. Land, under our laws, being private property, can be made scarce by withholding same from use and labor will bid for an opportunity to be allowed to work. The strength of organization of some trades has been forcing landlords to part with some of the wealth produced by labor and capital on their lots in San Francisco. Such wages are a direct tax on the land value because no more rent can be obtained for an eight-roomed office building at the corner of Fourth and Market streets, for instance, if it had to be rebuilt tomorrow at a higher rate of wages than it cost as it stands today. If the landlord could get more rent because it cost him more, he'd get more today, for he has other expenses he'd like it to pay.

Realizing that the higher average wages being paid San Francisco union labor today is coming, not out of the capital employed, but out of the land value on which they loan their money, the banks, omitting a yell such as might come from a man whose gouty toe had been trodden on, shut down on building projects "until the industrial situation has been cleared." That is, until the producer of wealth shall agree to accept less of his product and leave to the non-producer, who is the owner of the opportunity, more.

Paradoxically, unless the lot owners have improved renting property somewhat, the they are themselves injured for unimproved property brings in no revenue and most landowners in San Francisco have acquired extravagant spending habits. Paradoxically again, laborers themselves are making it harder to live, raising rents, making earnings to buy land in outlying districts for speculation.

Pointed Paragraphs

Pliny—Let not things, because they are common, enjoy for that the less share of our consideration.

J. Ralph Burton's paper, Home Rule, concludes an editorial with the prophetic words: "We shall see." The ex-senator has the quotation only in part. It should be: "We shall see what we shall see."

A gas mantle has recently been patented in Germany in which the mantle itself consists of nothing more than an egg shell, this being, according to the patent specifications, particularly well suited for acetylene gas burners. The egg shell is converted into a glowing state by means of the combustion of the gas inside, and is said to spread a pleasing and agreeable light.

It is discovered that in 1859 President James Buchanan refused to accept railroad passes. It has taken almost half a century for the late Mr. Buchanan's one redeeming act to come to light. The theory of the defense seems to be that Judge Loving took an immunity bath, accompanied by an immunity massage and an unwritten shampoo, just before he killed young Theodore Estes.

A London paper says: "By George," is Mark Twain's favorite exclamation—Mr. E. D. Morel tells us—which he raps out when Congo horrors move him to vehemence. It is an expletive which ranks with Shakespeare and the love of liberty as a common heritage of the English-speaking world. For "By George"—which used to be "fore George"—is no evasion of the type of "begad," "golly," "gosh," and the old "by Cock!" It is simply the old adoration of the English national saint—the shorthand form of the battle cry, "St. George for England!"—which has been ours ever since Sir Richard Coeur de Lion defeated Saladin on St. George's day in 1122.

'NELLY WITH BLUE EYES' LURES SWAIN TO HER LAIR

Violet-Scented Note, an Egg and Brother Bob Aid in Relieving Him of His Cash.

BROOKFIELD, Mass., July 12.—James Chamberlain of this town has returned from the Jamestown Exposition, whither he was lured by an egg, a violet-scented note, and a pair of blue eyes. He is a much mystified man and is also minus $10.

Way back on May 10 Chamberlain started eating his noonday lunch in a woodlot on the farm, but his egg that day was a most peculiar one. Instead of containing a golden ball of yellow and smooth, glistening white, it held a violet-scented note which read:

"Will the finder of this epistle kindly make an effort to meet the sender in the lobby of the Administration Building at the Jamestown Exposition, May 31, at 8 o'clock in the evening, near the main entrance?"

"In order to facilitate matters for your accommodation, I will appear dressed in a complete suit of white duck, and will wear a black Modjeska jacket. I will wear no hat, but will carry a white parasol in my right hand. If the finder will appear dressed in a checked gray suit and with a brown derby I will have no trouble in finding him. Assuring the finder that he will be welcome, I wish to remain his and only his—

"NELLY, WITH THE BLUE EYES."

Mr. Chamberlain pondered this note for three days until "Nelly with the blue eyes" began to look pretty good to him. Then on May 28 he started for the fair, stopping off in Springfield long enough to buy the checked suit and the brown derby. He met Nelly the 31st all right, and she was dressed exactly as she promised to be. But she saw fit to bring her brother, "Bob," along for the meeting.

"They walked around the fair a bit and made arrangements for Mr. Chamberlain to spend a month with Nelly and Bob, beginning the next morning. Just before they parted Bob remarked carelessly: "Could you lend me a tenner, just till tomorrow?" Mr. Chamberlain was a game sport and tossed out a ten spot.

He went around to the address given and found no Nelly and Bob had ever lived there. He decided to stay and see the exposition anyway, for he had his new checked suit and brown derby to console him. He came home derby I will have no trouble in finding him. Assuring the finder that he will

SOCIETY: GOSSIP ABOUT SMART SET

The marriage of Miss Agnes Ford Pettit and George Sydney Smith was celebrated last evening at the Centennial Presbyterian Church in East Oakland. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. O. E. Hart, assisted by the groom's father, Dr. G. S. Smith.

The bride wore a gown of white embroidered net elaborated with bands of French serge and finished with a train. A knot of orange blossoms in her hair took the place of the conventional veil.

The two bridesmaids were Miss Ferrana and Miss Wilhelmina Pettit, gowned alike in pale pink chiffon over silk. They carried maidenhair fern.

Arthur Smith, a cousin of the groom, acted as best man.

The church decorations were in pink and green and at the house of the bride's mother, where an informal reception was held after the ceremony, the decorations were in the same color scheme.

About fifty guests attended the informal reception and wedding supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith have gone on a honeymoon trip and will return to make their home in this city.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Margaret Pettit and has a host of friends here. The groom is a young business man of San Francisco.

SILVER WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. Henri Bruecker celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding last Sunday, July 7, in Treble Glen Park.

Among those who enjoyed the affair were: Mr. and Mrs. Bruecker, Mr. and Mrs. Kaurh, Mr. and Mrs. Mesum, Mr. and Mrs. Lund, Mr. and Mrs. Kahrs, Mr. and Mrs. P. Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. H. Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. T. Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Gleason, Mr. and Mrs. Gloy, Mr. and Mrs. Proutman, Mr. and Mrs. Bird, Mr. and Mrs. Walters, Mr. and Mrs. Kruesberger, Mr. and Mrs. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Wittig, Mr. and Mrs. Host-traver, Mr. and Mrs. Cruz, Mr. and Mrs. Waldr, Miss Emma Walters, Miss Jesse Reed, Miss Grace Nestoby, Miss Rena Coudyser, G. HAS RETURNED.

Mrs. Warren G. Miller, formerly Jessie E. Teeple, after a short visit with her mother, Mrs. M. F. Teeple, of East Oakland, has returned to her home in St. Louis, Mo., where she joins her husband for an extended trip to Jamestown Exposition and Florida.

SOCIETY NOTES.

The Misses Cuddy were recent visitors in Tracy.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stetson Wheeler are entertaining several friends at their country home on the McCloud river.

The Frank C. Havens expect to leave Sag Harbor today for California and will probably be here on Tuesday of next week.

Mr. and Mrs. George B. M. Gray have closed their East Oakland home and are at Big Meadow, Plumas County.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Langhorne have taken a house in Grove street at Fifty-fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlos White, formerly Miss Verna Edgren, leave today for a six weeks' trip in the Yosemite Valley.

Miss Elizabeth Simpson, Miss Emma Simpson and Miss Harrison are spending the month of July in Mill Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. George Jensen, formerly Miss Anita Oliver, will spend a fortnight at the Jensen ranch in Mendocino County.

HOUSE PARTY.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. MacDonald, with Miss Hazel and Miss Jessaline Horton, are guests at a house party in Hearst, Mendocino County.

FOR BRIDE-ELECT.

Miss Grace McCormick, the pretty fiancée of Robert Edgar Jack, will be the complimented guest at a tea to be given tomorrow afternoon by Mrs. F. W. Van Sicken at her home.

Miss Ida Pattani will entertain Sunday afternoon at a reception for Miss McCormick and Robert Jack and on the same evening Mrs. Sidney Allen will give a supper for the popular couple.

The wedding will take place Tuesday evening at the McCormick home, in the Euclid City. Miss McCormick has chosen her cousin, Miss Harriet Pige, as maid of honor. Howard Jack will attend his brother as best man. The wedding party will include many of the interesting people of Southern California. The new home of maid and marry in their work

Mrs. Philip Clay and Miss Letitia Parry are home again after a delightful visit in the East with Mrs. Harden Crawford, nee Clay, at her summer home, "Seabright," on the New Jersey coast.

VACATION TRIP.

Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Evans are enjoying a delightful month's vacation at Blue Lakes Resort, Lake County. They will return about August 6.

AT LAKE TAHOE.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Walsh and Miss Marian Walsh will spend a month at Lake Tahoe, leaving this week for the picturesque retreat.

WOMEN BITTERLY OPPOSE PARDON OF MURDERESS

Headed by Editor Two Hundred Visit Governor Vardaman, Pleading That No Mercy Be Shown.

JACKSON, Miss., July 12.—Two hundred women, both married and single, appeared before Governor Vardaman and strenuously opposed the granting a pardon to Mrs. Angle Fox Birdsong, niece of United States Senator A. J. McLaughlin, who is serving a five-year sentence in the penitentiary for having shot and killed Dr. Thomas H. Butler.

The women were backed by Joseph H. Dale, an editor, at Monticello, the home town of Mrs. Birdsong. Mr. Dale is one of the most bitter of Mrs. Birdsong's enemies; he said today:

"We shall attempt to show Governor Vardaman that Mrs. Birdsong killed Dr. Butler in cold blood. The question of the unwritten law was never broached at the trial nor was the jury called upon to give it consideration. It is just another case of Potiphar's wife. But Mrs. Potiphar in this instance had a swifter and surer vengeance for Joseph. She did not cause his imprisonment on a false charge. Neglected by her lover for another, she carried out the maxim that: 'Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned,' and used the pistol with deadly effect. "We are fighting for the purity and sanctity of our homes. To pardon this woman after the Supreme court has set the seal of its approval on the verdict of the lower tribunal would be a travesty and one of which I do not believe that Governor Vardaman will be guilty."

WOMAN WHO SAVES SIX LIVES IS GIVEN MEDAL

Out of Eighty-Seven to Be Rewarded for Bravery, Four Members of Fair Sex Are Complimented.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Four women were among the eighty-seven persons to receive medals and certificates of bravery in rescuing persons from drowning in the rivers around New York during the last year. These women were Mrs. Nellie Nickerson, who received a silver medal; May Van Der Noot, who received a bronze medal, and Jennie Marsh and Florence Voorhees, who received certificates of honor.

The presentation took place in the Aldermanic Chamber.

Silver medals denote rescues involving danger to the lives of those assisting in the rescue; bronze medals are awarded to those who show presence of mind in the rescuing of persons from drowning.

without risk to themselves, while the certificates show a ready spirit in rendering whatever assistance is necessary.

Mrs. Nickerson rescued six persons on July 29 last year off Hoffman's Island. The party were out sailing when caught in a violent storm, which upset their boat.

She was on a tug on which her husband was the engineer, which went to the rescue. She threw a line, which was seized by the four men in the party. Making the line fast, she leaped over the rail and seized two girls who had come up beside the boat.

They threw their arms about her and drew her into the water. They were rescued later by the crew of the tug.

OLD KISSING GAMES MUST MAKE WAY FOR ATHLETICS

Thus Rules Philadelphia Board of Education Which Is In Mighty Fear of Deadly Little Microbe.

PHILADELPHIA, July 12.—Kissing games are to be tabooed in public school playgrounds. Stringent regulations against the old-fashioned plays, in which the penalty is a kiss, will be enforced by the Board of Education and the medical inspectors.

Not that these stern authorities fear the incursion of the little god—or wish to discourage amicable relations between the youngsters, they are simply shooting away the dread microbe and discouraging the visitation of infectious germs.

Infantile kissing, which has been for generations the thrilling accompaniment of "epin the plate," "going to Jerusalem," "clap in and clap out," "drop the handkerchief" and a score of other games, is now looked upon as unhygienic and a transmitter of germs.

MORE EDUCATIONAL GAMES. Besides, the authorities argue that the modern child is made of sterner stuff than the youngster of a generation ago, and that boys and girls would rather engage in more athletic sports than those of their grandparents.

"There are so many more educational forms of recreation now than there used to be," said William A. Stecher, director of physical instruction, "that it is not necessary to permit the old kissing games.

"Games that require muscular activity and skill and bring into play the development of brain and body, have been substituted on our recreation schedule, and we do not anticipate any trouble in doing away with the unhealthy practice of promiscuous kissing."

NO SENTIMENT HERE.

Sentiment did not enter into the mind of Dr. Thomas J. Beatty, assistant to the chief of the Bureau of Health, when he issued his mandate yesterday prohibiting kissing in playgrounds. "The practice is disease-spreading, and will not be tolerated," he said, with scientific finality.

A new departure in the management of the sixty playgrounds opened on Monday by the board is the medical supervision which the Board of Health will exercise over the sixty thousand children who attend the recreation centers. Every day the staff of school physicians will go the rounds, examining the children, treating them for minor afflictions and excluding those who have infectious diseases. The practice will insure healthy conditions and improve the physical standard of the pupils.

A Novel Apron for the Traveler.

I have found such a pretty idea for a gift to the friend who is to make a journey by sea or by land. A toilet apron, made of heavy linen, its turned-up pockets either plainly bound on the edges or feather-boned, which are to hold all the small toilet necessities always slipping away when wanted in the ordinary traveling case or bag.

If one has plenty of time and cares to take the trouble, all the edges of this dainty apron can be scalloped with wash silks or cotton, and a line of embroidery follow the scallops. Rows of feather stitching can separate the pockets, and there may be several sizes so divided. One for hairpins, one for back comb, and another for the dressing comb; one for the small hat brush and one for the powder puff in its chamois case; all the little things that are usually tucked away in the toilet case for the journey will be found at hand in this clever little apron, which can be just as easily rolled up and tied, taking no more room than the case would in the traveling bag.

FAIR BATHERS' ROBES TOO MANY, DECLARE OFFICIALS

Beach Guardians Suffer From Being Made Clothes Horses for Garments at Merry Water Side

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 12.—

Fair bathers, forced under a new city law to wear long robes over their bathing suits while on the way to the beach, have given the authorities the problem of taking care of the garments, and Beach Surgeon Beckwith has asked that special wardrobes be provided to obviate the nuisance of allowing the robes to be stored in the beach hospital tent.

Beach officials have been unable to withstand the smiling request to "Please take care of this until I come out," and declare they must have the wardrobes for self-protection, as they are often unable to stand up under the heapes of robes, smilingly thrust upon them.

FOR WOMEN TRAVELERS

A compact little case for pins and rings, convenient when traveling, is made of one piece of fancy ribbon lined with a piece of elder-down flannel, the whole bound by narrow ribbon. One end of the ribbon is turned over to form a little bag for rings and is fastened with tiny buttons and buttonholes. The pins are stuck in neat rows in the elderdown flannel and the case may be rolled up and tied with narrow ribbons. Equally useful is a case for wash ribbons made of a piece of flowered ribbon six or eight inches wide and about 18 inches long.

Turn up one side of the ribbon about three inches along the entire piece and featherstitch it down at intervals, forming four little packets. Into these pockets slip four cards, on which is bound wash ribbon, using either the favorite color of the girl for whom it is intended or else winding two with white ribbon, one with pink and one with light blue.

At one end make a little case for a bodkin and at the other fasten a small pair of scissors. This little convenience is easily slipped into the traveling bag where it takes up practically no room, and the narrow ribbons are always needed for dainty underwear.

A Glimpse of Mrs. Foraker.

During her ten years' residence in the national capital, Mrs. Foraker has aligned herself with the conservative element. Her home has never been the scene of those ultra or frivolous functions which made some of the wearers of toga somewhat ridiculous. Dignified, cultured and broad-minded, she has been one of the forces which uplift social conditions and make the routine duties worth the exertion. She keeps her Thursdays at home faithfully during the Congressional season, and her dinner parties, luncheons and receptions make her record among the most hospitable in the high official set. Mrs. Foraker's most endearing quality, outside her intense patriotism and love of home, is her kind-heartedness and disposition to lend a helping hand to those less fortunate. Being a woman of uncommonly good judgment and unerring foresight, she has to spend much of her time advising with her friends and suggesting ways out of their difficulties. Her friends say that if she charged retainers, she might aspire to rivaling some of the gold-edged legal men of the country. Like all the women in high official circles in Washington, Mrs. Foraker is a busy woman, and how she devotes so much time to study, to work, to household affairs and to the good of others is a mystery unexplained.

MARRIED ONE HAPPY NIGHT; HE LEAVES HER NEXT DAY

Rich New York Groom Tells Court He Is Deceived and Asks Annulment and Alimony.

NEW YORK, July 12.—An unusual application was made before Justice Blanchard in the Supreme Court when Anton Anstett, of Brooklyn, who is said to own real estate valued at $500,000, asked for alimony and counsel fees pending the trial of his suit for annulment of his marriage with his wife, Evelyn Anstett. The pair were married August 4, 1906, and separated the next morning.

Anstett asked for an annulment on the ground that his wife had deceived him. Mrs. Anstett has a suit pending against her husband, alleging cruel and inhuman treatment. In his complaint Anstett sets forth that when he found that his wife had deceived him, she said:

"I will not ask you about your past life. You must take me as I am, asking no questions about my past."

Judge Blanchard reserved decision.

AN IDYL--AND A MORAL.

'Twas the farmer's pretty daughter,
Minna, young and slim,
Who by Danube's azure water,
Seemed so fair to him.

He was but a genre painter,
Wedded to his art,
But ambition's cry grew fainter,
When woke his heart.

As he watched her, posed demurely,
In her gretchen gown,
You'll not blame him, reader, surely,
If he bent him down—

Bent him down and kissed the maiden,
On her rosy mouth,
With the tender sweetness laden
Of the tropic South.

For young Conrad bent and kissed her,
Did it, too, what's more,
As her mother, who had missed her,
Entered at the door.

Reader, take, before thou partest,
Moral to this tale;
'Twas a blessing for the artist

(That this occurred by the Danube's azure tide, where they don't mind a little thing of that sort, for if he had tried the scheme in other countries we know of, he would have been liable to find himself left in for a good, old-fashioned breach of promise suit.—Grand Magazine.)

MANY ASK FOR LIQUOR PERMIT

When Vote Is Taken, Only One Application Is Denied--Many Favored.

When the application for a saloon license at Twenty-fourth and Broadway by Vigalar & Nebel was read to the license committee of the City Council last night Councilman Ellsworth objected to any more saloons in that vicinity. Councilman Baccus stated that the applicants were old residents and reputable business men and that nobody in the neighborhood objected. The application was recommended by four ayes to one no.

Other saloon license applications recommended were those of Ross & Foutz, 835 Broadway; Idora Park Company; A. Bruchman, 1491 Seventh street; J. F. Bauchro, 612 Broadway; Armanino & Traverso, 701 Broadway; American Italian Company, 407 Tenth street; E. Burelaster, 461 Broadway; Borchia & Brooks, 418 Tenth street; C. Creghino, 826 Broadway; J. J. HOSPITAL MATRON IDENTIFIES MAN

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.--Mrs. N. Bacloup, matron of the detention ward of the Central Emergency Hospital, has identified Bartholomew Parata, who has been held as insane at the hospital since Monday, as the man who has been missing from Oakland for several days. She has an account in a newspaper to the effect that the man's brother, Peter Parata, had requested the Oakland police to look for the man. She communicated with the Oakland police by telephone and informed them that a man answering the description and giving the name of the missing man was held here. The brother was cited to appear this morning before the commission which meets to investigate the man's sanity.

SILVER IS HONORED WITH SECOND TERM

At the last meeting of the State Board of Bank Commissioners, Herman Silver was honored by being elected president for the second time. This is the first instance of a member being elected to the presidency of the board of bank commissioners up to its present high standard.

Mr. Silver has been a bank commissioner for four years and has two years to serve, having been appointed to succeed himself by ex-Governor Pardee. He is held in high esteem by the banking interests of the State, not only because of his high personal standing, but also on account of his painstaking interest in causing the different banking corporations to comply with the letter of the law, thus bringing the standard of all corporations under the jurisdiction of the Board of Bank Commissioners up to its present high standard.

UNDER SUSPICION OF BEING FIREBUGS

WEST OAKLAND, July 12.--Being suspected of having set fire to a building in this section of the city and also with being implicated in the robbery of Charles Green, Pauline Lyons, a negro, and Joe Thompson, also a black, have been in detainee at the central police station pending an investigation. It is the theory of the police that the woman committed arson to enable her to steal articles of value during the confusion of the fire. She has been arrested on a number of occasions and has twice served time in San Quentin for robbery. Green alleges that the woman stole a diamond ring, a sum of money and several articles of jewelry from him.

PAY INCREASE NOT GRANTED

Brotherhood Switchmen Take an Appeal to General Manager Calvin.

WEST OAKLAND, July 12.--At the conference yesterday between W. S. Palmer, R. H. Ingram and E. Buckinham, representing the Harrison system, with P. H. Morrissey, grand master of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and R. H. McIntyre, chairman of the grievance committee, the railroad representatives refused the demand of the brotherhood switchmen for a raise of 2 cents an hour of the Chicago schedule of an increase of 4 cents an hour, and the grievance committee will appeal from the decision of the general superintendent to E. E. Calvin, vice-president and general manager of the Southern Pacific, and were to meet him today.

The officials of the Southern Pacific say that the switchmen and the yard foremen are paid well and as several of the lines west of Denver has refused to grant the increase of 6 cents an hour, they have precedent for not yielding to the demands of the switchmen. The rate of pay for their employees, the yard foremen, 32 cents; night switchmen, 37 cents; day foremen, 37 cents; night foremen, 37 cents.

The next grievance committee that is to meet the Southern Pacific officials is in Los Angeles in the course of a few days. The firmness demanded 5 and 10 per cent increase over the standard rates as provided in the old agreement to apply to the new rates fixed upon in Chicago. The company contended that the old rates, already being higher for men in Chicago, would remain in effect, and that no 5 or 10 per cent increase would apply.

WEST OAKLAND, July 12.--Smarting under remarks of fellow employees in a gang of Western Union linemen working at Seventh and Bay streets yesterday afternoon, Dominico Pauro, an Italian, made an attack on them with an ax. He was quickly overpowered before he could do any injury, and turned over to State Policemen Peter

ROBERT WATT DIES SUDDENLY

Former State Controller, Pioneer, Miner and Business Man Was Popular.

After an illness of a few hours Robert Watt, formerly for years a resident of this city, died last evening at his home, 2016 California street, San Francisco. While heart disease is attributed as the immediate cause of his death, an injury he sustained in a collision between his carriage and a Sutter street car last February is believed to have undermined his health and hastened his end. He was stricken with his fatal illness yesterday morning and death came at 5 o'clock in the evening. His wife, two daughters and son-in-law were at his bedside, and Dr. William Watt Kerr, a nephew, attended his dying moments.

Robert Watt was a native of Scotland and 75 years old. He arrived in California in 1851, and for years engaged in mining in Nevada county, there acquiring the foundation of his large fortune. He also served as State Bank Commissioner and State Controller, but retired from politics in the early 70's and entered business life in the bay cities. He was one of the promoters of the San Joaquin Valley railroad, which was acquired by the Santa Fe. At the time of his death he was president of the whole sale drug firm of Langley & Michaels, vice-president and director of the Union Trust Company, vice-president and director of the San Francisco Savings Union and a director of the Wells Fargo Nevada National Bank and of San Francisco Gas and Electric Company and the Marin County water works. He owned much valuable property and leave a great fortune. He was one of the most capable and popular of the pioneer business men of California.

Watt is survived by his widow, two daughters, Mrs. D. W. Campbell and Mrs. C. O. G. Miller, and a son, William Watt of Napa county. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at

SHOWS SIGNS OF INHARMONY

Councilman Refuses to Serve as Chairman of Committee--Elect Another.

The first sign of inharmony in the present City Council developed last night when Councilman Burns stated that he would no more serve as chairman of the license committee. Councilman Jackson asked Burns for his reasons for resigning. "I have my own personal, private reasons," replied Burns. "I should like to have Mr. Ellsworth take the chairmanship of the license committee."

"I'll take it," said Ellsworth, without hesitation.

On motion of Burns, Ellsworth was elected chairman of the committee.

TEACHERS IN FEAR OF WAR

MAY WRITE MESSAGE ON FACE OF U. S. POSTAL-CARD

Postmaster-General Meyer's New Rule Is Promulgated in Order to Prevent Confusion in Mails.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—For years Americans and others have been sending to the United States from foreign countries postal cards and post-cards (private mailing cards), with messages written upon the front as well as upon the back of the cards, although in this country this advantage has been denied the users of government postal cards. Some months ago the United States postal laws and regulations were amended so as to give that privilege to buyers of post-cards, but such a concession was not made applicable to postal cards.

In order to remedy this inconsistency and to prevent confusion and annoyance to the public, Postmaster-General Meyer today promulgated an order, effective August 1, 1907, providing that the face of a postal card may be divided by a vertical line placed one-third of the distance from the left of the card; the space to the left of the line to be used for a message, etc. The portion to the right to be used for the address only. A very thin sheet of paper may be attached if it adheres to the card and such a sheet may be used for a message, etc. This action was taken because, in the language of the resolution, "the attitude of the association was not sustained by the American press," which continued to use the old standard form.

Today, however, in the report of the committee on resolutions, there appeared a paragraph endorsing the efforts of the simplified spelling board, approving the new spelling of the list of 300 words, and directing the secretary of the association to use the simpler forms in the publications of the association.

Extra pair pants free

For 2 days only, Saturday, July 13th, and Monday, July 15th.

The reason we make this great offer is we want to keep our help busy, in the summer season so to keep them till the fall season begins. We don't make any profit on these suits, but we will gain in the long run. This is the slack month in tailoring, and mostly all tailors are idle, but our help are working steady. When the busy season comes we don't need to dis-appoint our customers by not having tailors, so we kept them during the slack times. This will be our gain. So many merchant tailors claim the work is made in their own shops, but when we say so we can prove it to you.

We will be only too glad to have you examine our shops, which are located at 965-969 Webster street, Oakland. You will find there the best of union mechanics. Every garment bears the Union Label. These suits are also cut by a first-class cutter who drafts a pattern to each and every measure, which must fit to perfection. We also try on our suits. Come early and avoid the rush. Take advantage of this great offer as you know every man wears out two pairs of pants to every coat and vest. The value of these pants is nothing less than $5.00.

Our prices are well-known to you all. Suits to order says an owl writer, tend to further in-crease the cost of liv-ing. That is regret-able, if true, but if it decreases the cost of dy-ing or postpones the day of dissolution—no one who enjoys the lap of good old mother earth will have any fault to find with it.

Does mean higher quality, they will spread further; besides they will in-crease our productive energy, so in the final analysis they will tend to decrease the cost of living. Special Sale Hints to Shoppers Who Would Save

The July Sale is progressing gloriously. Each department is undergoing a radical cleaning-out process with the result that each day produces many numbers which for good and sufficient reasons we marked one-third to one-half reduction. Our patrons recognize that these July Sales provide exceptional opportunities for practicing economy and that the merchandise involved is thoroughly dependable no matter how low the price may be. It is impossible to give each day even a fairly complete list of all the good things to be found in the store this July; but we can make a few suggestions.

A General Cleaning out of LINEN SUITS

All that remains of this summer's best lines of linen and lingerie suits has been heavily reduced to effect a speedy clearance.

It is impossible to give details of so many broken numbers, but it is sufficient to say that there is a good choice of designs, of colors, of fabrics and of sizes, and an early choice will certainly produce perfect satisfaction. The prices of these linen and lingerie suits were $40.00, $37.50, $35.00, and $32.50.

Special at $22.50

Another line of suits similar in style and color to the above, but of different grades, priced $30.00, $27.50, $25.00.

Special at $15.00

Entire Stock of Millinery AT HALF PRICE or LESS

Now is essentially the time to buy millinery "for a song."

Our dress hats, sailor hats, all kinds of untrimmed and trimmed hats, crash hats, children's hats, novelty shapes, a hat for every occasion, and the smallest reduction is one-half.

There is one lot of hats priced to $6.00—NOW $2.00

Another lot priced up to $3.50—NOW $1.50

A fine selection of outing and camping hats that were priced $2.00—NOW $1

All flowers and hat trimming, all extensively reduced during July.

Two Sample Sales of Muslin Underwear

These sample lines consist of a splendid lot of corset covers and an equally good lot of chemise; they come from one of the best houses in the country, are beautiful examples of design and workmanship and in the medium and better grades.

Priced fully one-third less than regular.

Wash Petticoats Special 50c

These are vacation petticoats made of strong gingham in plaids, checks, blue and white, pink and white stripes. They have deep flounces and are neatly finished with full ruffle. One of their chief virtues is the ease with which they can be washed and made to look as good as new.

Fancy Lawn Kimonos

Kimono dressing sacques, short ruffled sleeves, buttonhole edging, butterfly pattern—SPECIAL 35c

Kimono sacques cut flowing, bold patterns, faced with wide bands of plain material; regular 65c—SPECIAL 50c

Special Values in New Waists 98c and $1.25

These two lines of waists represent an unusually good purchase made by our New York buyer; as to their regular values, you are the best judge—we have priced them at the same big reduction at which they were sold to us.

These waists are exceptionally well made in most sanitary shops, and the designs are unusually clever. Wise shoppers will purchase enough to last throughout the season.

Made of excellent quality of white lawn, these pretty waists are made attractive in a variety of ways: yokes of all-over embroidery, plaid and embroidery trimmed, plain with groups of tucks, trimmed with lace and tucks, with front of inserting and tucks and a score of other novel styles. FILTH OF BABY FARM IS CAUSE OF THREE DEATHS

Contamination of Milk and Other Food Given Infants Produces Fatal Toxine Poisoning.

ALAMEDA, July 12.—At the inquests held this morning to inquire into the death of the three infants who died last week at the baby farm of Miss Ella McPheters, the jury returned a verdict, after hearing the testimony of City Chemist A. A. Cunningham, that the babies died from albuminous toxine poisoning, caused by the filthy condition of the place where the milk the babies drank was kept.

Chemist Cunningham stated that the first test, he thought, showed arsenic, but on further test found toxic poison. In answer to a question he stated that the poison could not have been administered to the children, but was the result of an unsanitary condition and due to contamination. The chemist said the test of the milk taken from the dairy which supplied the house showed it to be pure, and that it was in the milk and baby food which had been in the house for some hours that he found traces of the poison. He stated that such poisoning would have caused death.

DOCTOR WAS CALLED.
Miss McPheters told of the infants having become sick, and calling in Dr. L. W. Stillman. He responded, but when he arrived at her house one of the babies was dead. One of the infants that died because of the unsanitary condition of the house was a boy named Christiano Pico; another a young boy, and a baby girl named Hallstone was the third.

The coroner's jury did not censure Miss McPheters, but she has been warned by the police to cease keeping a baby farm.

Coroner Tisdale said, after the inquest, that it was simply a case of filth contaminating the food with which the babies were fed. There were no other traces of poison in addition to the toxic. It is not a commercial article and there is not any blame attached to anyone outside of what censure might be given because of the unsanitary condition of the house.

NAVAL OFFICIALS GOSSIP OVER DOCKING FACILITIES

Some Doubt Cast on Mare Island Drydock, but Hunters' Point Is Conceded to Be Quite Adequate.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Now that the visit of the battleships of the Atlantic fleet to the Pacific Coast is officially admitted, the gossip of the Navy Department touches on the docking facilities available for the accommodation of these vessels. The navy has but one dock upon the Pacific Coast—Khat of Bremerton at Puget Sound—which is capable of receiving the large battleships, the dock at Mare Island being too small for them.

The government has another dry dock under construction at Mare Island, which, when completed, will be capable of receiving the largest of the vessels now in service or contracted for. But there is considerable difference of opinion among the naval officials here as to whether, after all, this dock would be available in view of the limited depth of water across the bar over which the vessels have to go before reaching the navy yard.

CHARLESTON CROSSED BAR.
Some of the officials think this can be done and others that the armored cruiser Charleston would not clear the recently drawing 24 feet. These officials say that a ship of this kind had a deeper draft than the big battleships which can be lightened to the extent of a foot or more by unloading the greater part of their coal. Other officers say the battleships have a deeper draft than the Charleston when she crossed the bar.

The new dry dock at Mare Island has been under construction for almost a year. The delay has been a source of some disappointment to the officials here and now the probabilities are, according to the official reports received at the Navy Department, that it will be almost a year and a half before the dock is ready to be turned over to the government. The contract called for its completion November 20 next. The government declared the former slow progress and because of the delay a new contract was necessary under which the work is now going on. The new dock will be 720 feet long, 102 feet wide and 30 feet deep.

HUNTERS' POINT DOCKS.
Naval officers, however, are not giving the question of docking facilities upon the coast any serious consideration, for they say there are two large docks at Hunters' Point, near San Francisco, belonging to private parties, which the navy may use by paying the charges. One of these would accommodate any American vessel afloat.

IMOGENE'S GERANIUM DIET CAUSE OF FITCHBURG WAR

Nanny Goat of Mrs. Collins Trespasses in Mrs. Broderick's Yard and Is Held There for Ransom.

Because her nanny goat, "Imogene," is held for a ransom of $1.50, Mrs. Kate Collins of Baker street, Fitchburg, has invoked the aid of the law to recover the animal from her erstwhile neighbor, Mrs. Jane Broderick. Mrs. Broderick claims that the goat trespassed on her cabbage patch and ate her tame geraniums. After her neighbor had refused to anchor the goat at home, Mrs. Broderick says she took the law of the neighborhood in her own hands and is going to be repaid for the damage done to her property.

The feud was a long one in the vicinity of the Collins and Broderick homes before the constables were called into the case. Mrs. Collins visited Justice of the Peace Geary's court in East Oakland and he, in turn, had Constable William Allen send out a warning to the goat detainer. Mrs. Broderick was defiant and declared that she was more conversant with the law than was the officer.

When attempted treaty failed, Mrs. Collins swore out a warrant charging the goat ransomer claimant with petty larceny. The warrant was given to Constable Allen to serve. He will see that the goat is returned without the payment of a ransom, and unless the matter is peacefully adjusted, Mrs. Broderick will face a term in jail.

IN WELL-MEASURED WORDS PRISONER EMPHASIZES HIS ALLEGED INNOCENCE

Haywood Asks Court to Have Window Shutters Closed So That He May Look Senator Borah Full in the Face During Progress of Trial.

BOISE, Idaho, July 12.—Testifying in his own behalf this morning W. D. Haywood denied that he planned, conspired in or desired the murder of former Governor Frank Steunenberg. The prisoner-witness emphasized his declaration of innocence, when in well-measured words and even tone he said:

"I do not believe I ever thought of Steunenberg after I left Idaho." The direct examination of the defendant took up the first hour and a half of the morning session. Clarence Darrow led his client carefully over the ground covered by Orchard and that every charge that Haywood had any connection with Orchard other than what was of the most innocent character or any criminal act was denied again and again by the witness in the most positive terms.

IN EASY POSE.

Senator Borah took Haywood in hand for cross-examination for the last hour of the session. The witness changed his position in the chair and faced the prosecution table. He gave no sign of nervousness. Leaning back with one arm flung over the back of his chair, after the first question, he looked up at Judge Wood and said:

"Your honor, may I have the shutters of that window closed, the glare is so strong I cannot see the Senator's eyes."

CAREFUL EXPLANATION.

Haywood gave careful explanations of the workings of the Western Federation of Miners, its policy and attitude toward employers of labor.

At the conclusion of the morning's session, Senator Borah announced that he would conclude his cross-examination this afternoon.

Senator Borah asked Haywood about the posting of certain notices in the Cripple Creek districts in 1901. One of these read:

"Hence take notice that on and after

William D. Haywood, who went on the witness stand today in defense of his life.

September 15, 1901, anyone working in the mines, mills and power plants of the Cripple Creek district who is unable to produce a card of membership in the Western Federation of Miners will be regarded as an enemy to himself and to the community at large, and will be treated as such."

FOR OR AGAINST.

Haywood said in explanation of this that there was a movement in foot to reduce wages throughout the district. A second notice called the attention of the miners to the fact that the 15th of September was near at hand; that the time of grace had about expired, and that all who were not for the union must be against it. There could be no middle ground.

"So," said Senator Borah, "the Western Federation of Miners had a permit system of its own and no one could work where it was in control unless he had a union card?"

UNION CARD NECESSARY.

"No, sir; a man could go to work anywhere without a card, but we expected him to join the union. If he wanted any of the benefits which accrued from membership in it."

Haywood was questioned closely as to his appearance before a committee of the State Senate in Denver to argue on the eight-hour law. Haywood said he spoke his mind very freely to the representatives of the capitalist class who were present, including Frank J. Hearn, of the Colorado Fuel & Iron Company, and ex-Governor Grant.

DRAWN TEARS.

"I compared the palace in which Governor Grant lived to the huts of some of the smeltermen, and I did it so vividly that tears rolled down Governor Grant's cheeks and he said he was going to leave the State. I told the men present that it was such influences as they represented that corrupted Legislatures and courts."

"And you referred to the court of which Judges Gabbert and Goddard were members?"

"I referred to the Supreme Court."

REFUSES TO ANSWER.

"And you regarded Judges Gabbert and Goddard as representatives of the corrupt corporation influences?"

"I wouldn't like to say that personally." Senator Borah complained at one point during the examination that the witness was endeavoring to evade a direct answer. Haywood disclaimed this and declared he was ready to answer any and all questions to the best of his ability.

At 11:30 a. m. the luncheon recess until 2 p. m. was ordered.

STRIKEBREAKER IS FINED $50

United Railroads Settles with Court for Misdemeanor of Employee.

It cost the United Railroads of San Francisco at least $50 to keep its working force intact today.

Floyd Grant, a strikebreaker, was arrested as a suspicious character at the corner of Eighth and Washington streets by Policeman Fife last night, after he had been loitering on the corner for several hours. When Grant was searched, a vicious looking revolver was found in his pocket and a charge of carrying concealed weapons was entered against him. When he was arraigned in police court No. 2 this morning he explained that he was obliged to go armed while he was on night work in San Francisco and that he had formed the habit of carrying his gun around with him all the time. Justice Quinn imposed a fine of $50 on the alternative of twenty-five days in the county jail. The fine was paid by a representative of the United Railroads and Grant accompanied him back across the bay to the car barn.

Runaway Takes Man to Death Under Train

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—George Cook, aged 32, a teamster living at 1880 Folsom street, was killed last night at 6:30 o'clock, while crossing Kentucky and Sixteenth streets, by a Southern Pacific train. The team was running away at the time. He was taken to the Emergency hospital, where he died shortly after being received. His injuries consisted of a fractured skull, compound fracture of both legs and other internal injuries.

HORSE KICKS MAN SQUARELY IN FACE

Instead of being permitted to do an act of mercy to a horse with a suffering colic, a man was kicked in the face by the animal's front hoof at 515 Pine avenue, was severely injured in the face by the animal's front hoof. The man was asked by the owner of the horse whether or not he could burn the horse out of the colic. The horse, however, instead of doing so, kicked the man in the face with its front hoof. The man was taken to the Emergency hospital, where he is now recovering. The horse was taken to the police station and is being held for the owner.

PRISON FOR PAYING TELLER.
ST. PAUL, Minn., July 12.—Paulo Banninger, a teller at the Commercial National bank, was sentenced to three years in the State prison today. He pleaded guilty to embezzlement of $10,000. Banninger was arrested in Seattle some weeks ago after he had left the bank. The total of his embezzlement was $10,000. He is now in the State prison at St. Paul.

POLICE PROBING INTO MYSTERY TRYING TO KILL

Murder of Captain W. H. Walston by Thugs Excites Sleuths of Two Cities.

ALAMEDA, July 12.—The result of the verdict of the coroner's jury which yesterday decided that Captain William H. Walston had been robbed and then murdered, has stirred the police to activity, and both the Alameda and Oakland detectives are attempting to find a solution to the mystery.

There is little doubt but that Captain Walston was murdered. If he were robbed and then thrown into the bay, the body of the man would be found. The testimony of the physician at the autopsy showed the lungs were filled with water and drowning was the cause of death. The bruises over the right eye and forehead indicated the man was struck just a few minutes prior to his death. The latter says he ran away as he was afraid and Corey jumped on a bicycle giving chase. He overtook Zolboskie on California street between Russell street and Ashby avenue, where, according to Zolboskie, he beat him unmercifully and tried to kill him. Zolboskie will swear to a complaint against Corey and Corey will be called on to answer for his alleged assault.

EASY FOR THUG.
Within a few minutes after receiving the bruise the former sea captain lost his life in the waters of the bay. Corey, however, would have been easy prey for a thug, and it is the theory of the jury and his friends that he was killed by the hand of a robber. Captain Nye, from whom Walston separated early on Sunday evening, is positive that Corey would not have carried it there, according to Captain Nye. He believes Walston was lured to the Alameda wharf and there he was murdered. The police will make a report some time tomorrow of his findings.

Spiritualist Elopes With Mother-in-Law

VIENNA, July 12.—A spiritualist named Banninger, living in Rudapest, eloped with his mother-in-law, the wife of a land owner named Deutch. Banninger was disinherited by his wife because she was not interested in his spiritualism. He found his mother-in-law devoted to Spiritualism. They came to Vienna preparatory to starting for the United States. While here they were robbed of all their belongings and she returned to Rudapest. Deutch and his daughter are both suing for divorce.

WANTS TIME TO PLEAD.

Stephen Miloff, a saloonman, who was arrested on the charge of selling liquor between the hours of 1 and 5 on the morning of July 7, was arraigned before Police Judge Mortimer Smith this morning. He asked to be given until July 13 to make his plea. The request was granted. Miloff is charged with the sale of liquor for sale.

WANTS CHILDREN ARRESTED.
Mrs. J. H. Johnson, of 514 Kennedy street, says that her children have been beaten and abused by the children of Mrs. Mary Peppas, of 529 Kennedy street. Consequently she appeared before Prosecuting Attorney DeCoto this morning and swore out warrants for the arrest of the Peppas children.

SAYS NEIGHBOR SWORE.
Mrs. L. Aerdorf, of 512 Twelfth street, swore to a complaint this morning charging her next-door neighbor with swearing at her on the morning of July 11. She promises to bring into court as witnesses of her neighbor's offensive conduct two children.

NOTHING LESS THAN WHALES FOR THEM

FAIR CHARMER PICKS $320 FROM POCKETS OF MASHER

Victim Waits Ten Minutes for His Fleeing Enchantress to Return Before He Discovers His Loss.

Women pickpockets are reaping a rich harvest these days from romantic Oaklanders who fare forth after dark in quest of amorous adventures. Nearly every night the police are in receipt of mournful complaints from shorn gallants, who have learned through the sad medium of fished pockets that the sirens of the street corner are more often snares than delusions.

The latest victim is Otto Schmidt of 1309 Seventh street, whose unconventional acquaintance with a rather less charmer cost him $320 last evening. Schmidt met the dame in question about 9 o'clock, and after establishing himself on a footing of easy good-fellowship with her, repaired to the back yard of a house at Seventh and Union streets for a confidential chat.

Things were going along famously, when the lady suddenly remembered that she had agreed to meet her sister on the opposite corner. Promising to return immediately, she excused herself for a moment, and went out to keep the appointment with her relative. It took Schmidt nearly ten minutes to put his hand into his pocket, and then he went out to search for his lost enchantress. Unfortunately she had neglected to furnish him with her name and address, but he was able to find the police a fairly good description of her.

LANGDON HAS NO PLAN TO PRESENT JUST AT PRESENT

San Francisco District Attorney Resents Charge That Graff Prosecutors Are Doing Politics.

(Tribune Correspondence.)

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—District Attorney Langdon would not discuss the plans of the prosecution in case of the failure of the proposed Convention of Thirty.

"The present plan," said Mr. Langdon, "is the only one before the people until Saturday night. After that I cannot say what may be done." Mr. Langdon discussed very briefly the causes which have been advanced by the various organizations for refusing to accept his proposal.

"As to the charge that we are doing politics," he said, "it is worse than absurd. Here is the patronage of perhaps 3000 people that may be distributed to the various commissions and all of which is controlled by the Mayor and Supervisors, and we turn it all over and say, 'do not want a voice in it.' That is queer trans-politics. "The suggestion of the mercantile bodies that fifteen members be appointed to the commission by Supreme court methods, cannot be discussed. As I have said, the only proposition before the people is the one that I have made."

"We have not the slightest idea that objections will be made to a court so manifestly fair as the one offered. Nothing will be done now until after tomorrow night, until which time, according to the original statement, the offer is open."

As Mayor Bixton was in court today, there were no new developments in the administration troubles.

SMALL BOY IS ATTACKED BY HIS VICIOUS PET DOG

Animal Goes Temporarily Mad and Tears Left Leg of Lad Before Youth Is Rescued by His Parents.

In a fit of temporary madness a savage dog just brought in from the country last night attacked little Allen Sinal, a ten-year-old youngster living with his parents at 315 Fifth street, and nearly tore his left leg off. The boy had just returned from his summer vacation in the country and with him came a dog that was given to him by his relatives on the farm he was visiting. In the country the animal had been fed on raw meat, but he diet prepared by young Sinal consisted of cooked foods.

Last night when Allen went to the back yard to feed his pet its usual meal of cooked meat and the leavings from the table, the canine sprang at him and, as he stepped back to ward off the attack, instead of reaching Allen's throat as the beast intended, it sank its teeth into the boy's left leg just below the knee.

His cries brought forth the aid of his parents, who beat off the infuriated animal and took their injured son to the Receiving Hospital. When Steward Borchert, emergency, the boy's torn stockings where the dog's teeth had proven effective, he found a ragged wound from the imprints of the beast's sharp teeth. The wound was thoroughly cleansed and the boy sent home. The dog will probably be shot.

THAWS SELL COAL LANDS

PITTSBURGH July 12—Driven to the last resource for ready money with which to defend Harry K. Thaw, the slayer of Stanford White, at his next trial, Mrs. William Thaw and the other Thaw heirs sold 1000 acres of the best of their coal lands to the Mount Pleasant Coke Company for a sum approximating $2,000,000 this afternoon.

Before William Thaw died he made a clause in his will that the coal lands should not be sold for any purpose whatever unless it was absolutely necessary.

Mrs. Thaw is evidently in need of a very large sum of money, and the only way in which she could get it was by selling this property outright.

Steel Tug for Here to Round the Horn

PHILADELPHIA, July 12.—Bound for a long trip to the Pacific, the steel tug Governor Hubbard left the Neafy & Levy shipbuilding plant today for a three months' run via the Straits of Magellan. The Hubbard was built for the Hammond Lumber Company of California, and will be used in towing lumber rafts from Puget Sound to San Francisco and other ports upon the Pacific Coast.

SCHMIDT PLAYS RAFFLES' ROLE

Bricklayer Accused of Attempt to Kill His Family Now Behind Bars.

"Oh, Billie Allen, I have a good joke to tell you," called out Ernest J. Schmidt, the Fruitvale bricklayer, accused of beating his wife and trying to kill the family by filling their bedroom full of gas.

Allen had been searching for Schmidt for nearly a week and when he heard the familiar voice of the German he barely escaped falling off of his bicycle.

Schmidt came running up to the officer and extending his hand said, "It was such a good joke that I could not keep it any longer. Why didn't you look in the right place? I am a regular Mr. Raffles, eh? Well, here I am; take me to jail."

Schmidt was led to the county jail, but the steel doors had no more than closed behind him when he cried for his liberty. He said he wanted to see his lawyer. His liberty was denied him without bail, so he is still in the bastille at Fifth and Washington streets where he will be kept until he comes up for a hearing in Justice Geary's court in East Oakland.

This same Schmidt is also the defendant in a sensational divorce suit now pending in the Superior Court. His wife, Babette, accuses him of all sorts of cruel things. She claims that he takes his three-year-old son to saloons and sets him on the bar as a mascot during his regular spree.

Schmidt has been arrested three times for beating his wife and at this last offense he is said to have attempted to kill the family while they slept. Constables Allen and Carroll have been searching since last Saturday for the man. Allen spent the night this week in the vicinity of Twin Peaks across the bay, where he knew Schmidt to be, but could not locate him.

SIXTEEN HURT IN A WRECK

SOMERSET, Ky., July 12.—Sixteen men were hurt on the Queen & Crescent Railroad yesterday when a local freight train crashed into a work train near the Tennessee line. A relief train brought the victims to a sanitarium here.

The wreck was caused by the work train being sent out a flagman while stopping to take water. The injuries consisted of sprains and bruises.

TRAVERS AND TRAVIS FAVORITES FOR FINALS

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 12.—The eight survivors in the contest for the national amateur golf championship played the third round of match play this morning. The four winners will meet in the semi-finals this afternoon, 18 holes play, thus bringing the field down to two. Tomorrow these two will meet in the finals at 36 holes to decide to whom shall go the honor of the championship. A large crowd was present to see the crucial games. Travers and Travis are pronounced favorites for the finals tomorrow.

The "Bugs" and "Buggies" Spider Kelly, Cap Ferry and a choice collection of spirits went out to see the Seals "Jap" the Beavers in a twelve inning game by a score of 2-2.

It was one of those games, like unto where Willie Wiseboy slips the elderly lady a pair of "real gold" spectacles for $2.50 that couldn't be bought anywhere else under fifteen cents.

For twelve rousing innings the Seals and Beavers battled, then the Seals slipped the Beavers a little package, bereft of the baby blue ribbon, trotted back to the club house, cozened up to the radiators and talked of heading off Los Angeles.

Old Subscriber — Britt and Nelson fought last on the afternoon of September 2, 1905.

Sportman's Niche

By T. P. MAGILLIGAN.

LORD KEEGAN, dean of the Sheet Writers in Johnny Coleman's cleanery, left for Seattle last night. Lord Harry looks for a good season up north.

TOMMY MULVEY has joined a motor boat club. If Tommy sits squarely in the middle of the boat and doesn't rock, he won't have to send in a hurry call for the life saving crew.

CAP FERRY attended yesterday's ball game at Recreation Park. Cap says the public who paid their muzzles to see the battle were "jepped" again. Guess "jepped" a bad word, eh?

UMPIRE DERRICK is thinking of retiring to the country. It's a cinch that if he does that he won't come back with his hair draped over his collar. That couldn't happen even where they raise two crops of alfalfa a year.

WE take it that Ed Corrigan has exhausted every method of making trouble on the western turf. We assume this from the present lack of trouble in that organization.

JIM JEFFRIES attends all the fights. He used to do it to keep his picture in the papers and keep his name before the public as a champion. Now he does it to advertise the drinksmithy at Los Angeles.

JACK JOHNSON says he is after Mike Schreck. Just how far after Mike he is we don't know, but we are sure it will take him a long time to catch up.

SO for as Mr. Squires is concerned "Burns" is still a hot old name. To get proper recognition in America, escape from the wilds of Belochistan, Afghanistan or Abyssinia and make a noise like prize fighter.

OUR modern baseball writers are receiving letters asking them to send vocabularies so that readers can translate the baseball accounts. Thus do our country subscribers fall behind the times.

MR. SQUIRES says the more he thinks it over the more he is convinced that Mr. Burns acted with "hundred aces" when they met at Colma.

MAGAZINE writers are handing it to the public who bet on the ponies. We should imagine that the editors have it handed to them enough without being criticized in magazine articles.

JACK O'BRIEN received the returns from the Colma fight over a ticker in his cellar. For reasons best known to himself he did not make the trip to Frisco.

ED ATHERTON and "Rip" Van Halen are the only ball players in captivity who wear soup strainers on their upper lips. They both claim it also keeps the peas from slipping from their knives when they are gliding them into their maws.

THERE is a persistent rumor afloat that the ten thousand dollars that Willie Squires bet on himself on the side against Tommy Burns was made in the city of Richmond, Va., in the year 1861.

WORST of all were the moving picture men. Three feet of film won't draw much in any city outside of San Francisco where the suckers are pretty numerous.

COCKEY O'BRIEN has gone to Seattle to accept a position as chaplain to the Mayor. If the job falls down Cockey says he will be willing to accept a place as the chauffeur of a lunch wagon.

WHEN it comes to advertising the goods, Willie Britt must be given a seat in the Hall of Fame. The new ad that Willie has out for the Britt-Nelson fight are far and away the neatest, most attractive and modern shown on the Pacific Coast up to date.

ALEX GREGGAINS IS NOW
OWNER OF FIGHT PERMIT

San Francisco Promoter Gets New Mayor's
Signature and Then Gets Schmitz' Name to Permit.

By EDDIE SMITH.

Armed with a fight permit granted to him by the Supervisors and signed by two Mayors, Alex Greggains is going about the arranging of details for the coming Britt and Nelson fight with a confidence that would be hard to shake off.

Greggains is not the least bit backward about telling anyone that he is of the opinion that the third meeting between the rival light weights will be the best show that he has ever handled and that he expects it to prove the best drawing card he ever signed up.

The condition of both of the contestants is daily being improved upon and unless Britt foolishly overruns as he did in the last meeting both men should enter the ring in splendid condition.

Nelson is working hard and is doing no stone unturned to get into the best possible shape and although the Battler has intimated that he is not worrying over the outcome of the coming contest, he feels that the odds are against him and that he is in the very pink of condition.

Bill Nolan, who oversees the Dane's work in the gymnasium, says he is perfectly satisfied with the condition of the rugged battler and that he would be willing to send him to the start at the present moment.

Of course all managers and fighters say the same thing and many times when they are wrong they really feel that they are telling the truth. It is my opinion that in this case the fighter and manager are right, for unless something happens to Nelson since I last saw him he will be in good condition.

That Britt will be fit depends entirely on how he trains. If he comes back from the mountains to show the public he is in good condition and works himself out every day he will enter the ring stale, but if he comes back and is stilled with the result of about four months' preparation and takes it easy he will enter the ring in almost perfect condition.

The writer saw him work with Joe Thomas at San Rafael when he was training for the mountains to show the public he is in good condition and works himself out every day he will enter the ring stale, but if he comes back and is stilled with the result of about four months' preparation and takes it easy he will enter the ring in almost perfect condition.

It now looks as if Bill Squires will have another chance to show what he can do in America before leaving for home.

Last night Barney Reynolds and Tom McCarey exchanged telegrams in regard to a match. They also had a talk over the phone. Owing to the distance, however, they could hardly understand each other and nothing definite was decided upon.

Reynolds may go to Los Angeles today to clinch the match. Barney is anxious to have his man show just once more at least before going home and would do most anything to get him another trial at the American heavy weights.

McCarey is of the opinion that Squires and Jim Flynn, who he is contemplating matching with the Australian, will prove a good card. Harry Leap has been authorized to offer the Antipodean 50 per cent of the gross as a purse for their second meeting in America.

Squires is lucky to get such a good chance after the showing he made against Burns and will no doubt grab the contest.

Jim Flynn, the Colorado fighter, is at present matched to fight Dave Barry at Pueblo, Colo., and will not be ready to fight for a few weeks after the coming of the first of August.

That he will beat Barry there seems not the slightest doubt, but if the unexpected should happen then Barry will be put on his place.

Flynn is about a 175 pound man, but very tall and in his clothes looks bigger than he really is. He has a good punch and is fairly fast.

If McCarey had hunted the land over several times he could not have hit upon a better man to give the Australian his second try out, for if Squires is good enough to beat Flynn he must be considered capable of clashing with the first fighters in this country, and if he falls to show up well, then he had better take the first steamer for home.

Young Ketchell, the coming welter weight, is in San Francisco and carrying a chip around on his shoulder in hopes that some of the welter will try to knock it off.

Ketchell, through his manager, has challenged all the men of his class in the country and is especially anxious to get another chance at the champion with whom he boxed such a fast twenty-round draw at Marysville.

"Ketchell asks for favors from any of the welter weights and is willing to fight them at any weight or split the purse any way they desire. If Mr. Gleason can arrange a match with Mike (Twins) Sullivan and Ketchell for his ball grounds I will allow the Boston boy to name the terms for the meeting," said the Montana boy's manager, J. Richardson.

Ketchell may be matched to meet Kyle Whitney in the near future and the match is open for the highest bidder.

Our own Willie Hogan for a couple of hits at Los Angeles yesterday.

George Haley butted into the limelight with four hits yesterday. George is getting to be quite a credit to his Alma Mater on Thirty-fourth and Broadway.

Jim McDonald, one time favorite umpire in the Coast League, will in future arbitrate disputes in the State League. He has joined Frank Herman's forces.

Willie Devereaux of Raspberry Manor was a regular cut-up yesterday. Willie slipped into the Niche of Fame with three hits.

Most ball players think genius of a high order consists in solving the pitcher's delivery. And so do most of the baseball fans.

San Francisco slipped into the assist column 21 times, while Portland got into that column 20 times yesterday.

ALAMEDA, July 12.—Saturday night the fleet of the Aeolian Yacht club will make a cruise up the Sacramento river. Some of the boats will be away two weeks. Others will return in a few days from the starting time. The following are the boats and skippers for the cruise:

Nautilus, Commodore Strom; Nettie, vice commodore Ellis; Ethel H., skipper Heinz; Mist, skipper Ward; Aeolian, skipper Boyson; Idler, skipper Knight; Ceres, skipper Rosbeck; Arrow, skipper DeLoe; Los Angeles team will be captained by the Boston Americans before the end of the present season. Secretary Breen of the Boston team, who was here recently was very favorably impressed by the work of the little left dicker, and reported has it here that he has recommended to his Boston people that they secure Carlisle by all means.

Haley Proves
Star of Game

LOS ANGELES, July 12.—The Oaks hammered the life out of Carnes yesterday and won a comparatively easy game that was full of snappy playing and hard and consistent hitting. The only error in the game was a fumble by Haley at second base of a grounder, and as this did not figure in any of the runs the contest was practically an errorless one.

Bernard furnished the fielding sensations of the day, making three or four circus catches in center, capturing the ball after long runs in each instance, for which he was loudly applauded. Delmas had two outs and six assists. Haley was the real star of the show, however, for in four times at the bat he ripped off a double and three singles, made two runs and had one out and five assists. Wild Bill Devereaux was right with him, for he hit safely three times in four and had an out and four assists. Timely hitting tells the story, but the game was lost at that time. The score:

and the condition of this crop is reported improved, and the outlook is for a or a full average crop.

KANSAS DAMAGE.

The chief complaint comes from Kansas, where the damage, although exasperated, is unquestionably serious. Considerable recovery has been made, but is still, but is still, but is still, but is still, weeks late. While the stand is small, condition is generally good, and with most chances are in favor of a good yield. Even cotton is rapidly making up or lost time, and the prospects are much better than a month ago. It would seem unlikely that condition is better, than the government's report of 72. This was rise of only 1 1/2 points in the month seems exceedingly small, in view of the preceding weather during the past three weeks. Suffice it to say that the crop situation as a whole is much the unsatisfactory condition of the market. Now that the July disbursements have been safely passed the situation is somewhat better. These funds of the growing season, it is fair to expect good crops as a rule. On the other hand, the situation is critical both as to cotton

SOLIDITY INFLUENCE. Transactions on the Stock Exchange this week have been somewhat restrained by observation of the independence of the day. The outlook, however, is not gloomy, and many of those who experienced it in the market place are inclined to be optimistic. The low prices at which many stocks have been selling, considering their earning power, has induced many investors to take more optimistic and aggressive attitudes. The week which took place in some of the leading banks and the support of the Federal Reserve and the sanction and support of some of the strong interests in the market. Some of the larger operators have been unduly pessimistic and have been well discounted and the market was entitled to a fall in price. This, combined with the general strength of the market, explains the recent money rates. Before long several of the leading operators will return and this will
